Springhill Lake School Opening Is Delayed: Double Shifts at Center

by Mary Smith

Construction of the new Springhill Lake Elementary School has been delayed, and the nearest date the County Board of Education can give for the opening is "sometime in November", according to Mr. Wendell, head of pupil accounting for the county. Until that time, Springhill Lake and Charlestowne Village elementary pupils will attend Center School; the first four grades will be on double shift and the 5th and 6th grades will be on regular school hours. Bus transportation will be provided for these students, expected to number about 330.

According to Mrs. Golden, principal of the Springhill Lake School, hours for the double shifts for the first four grades will be from 9 a.m. to 12 noon for half the students, and from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. for the other half. Grades 5 and 6 will be on regular hours; 9 a.m. to 3:15 p.m.

Mr. Ellis, principal of Center School, expects an enrollment of about 390 pupils. Hours will be from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Ellis emphasized that even though SHL and Charlestowne Village students will be housed in Center School, the two schools will be run quite independently. There will be no double shifts for Center School students.

Mrs. Golden will have her office in the basement of Center School, and her students will use the four temporary classrooms and the auditorium. After school registration is complete, she will mail letters to individual SHL and Charlestowne Village parents, assigning students in the first four grades to either morning or afternoon sessions.

Kindergarten for Springhill Lake will be held temporarily in the Presbyterian Church, Berwyn Heights. Kindergarten parents will have to provide their own transportation.

Mrs. Poland, principal of North End School, expects little change in enrollment from last year. As usual, children from Lakewood, Boxwood and Lakeside North will attend North End School. There will be no temporary classrooms.

Art Guild in Festival

Members of the Greenbelt Art Guild who have been enjoying the monthly critiques have already learned the unhappy news that Jim Forbes will not be able to fit the program into his schedule next year. Since this next meeting, Wednesday, August 31, in the Youth Center, will be the last opportunity to benefit from Mr. Forbes' discussion and criticism, all members are urged to come and show their appreciation of his work during the past few years.

Navy Yard Open House

The historic Washington Navy Yard will hold open house for the general public on Saturday, Aug. 27, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Visitors will be invited to tour the Atlantic Fleet destroyer USS SOLEY (DD-707), the Naval Reserve training submarine USS DRUM (SS-228), the Naval Memorial Museum, and to stroll through Admiral Willard and Admiral Leutze Parks, which contain many unusual antiques prizes of war, and samples of naval ordnance manufactured in the Yard when it was the largest naval ordnance plant in the world.

Peace Group Still Out Of Labor Day Festival

On Monday night four members of the Steering Committee of the Greenbelt Labor Day Festival Committee met with four members of the Greenbelt Committee for Peace in Viet Nam. The meeting was at the request of the Peace Group to have the matter of denial of a booth explained to them more fully.

At the meeting Leo Gerton, Chairman for the Festival Committee, informed the Peace Group representatives that the entire committee was behind Mrs. Rita Fisher's decision to deny a booth to the Committee for Peace in Viet Nam based on the assumption that since so many organizations had declared that they would not participate if the Peace Group did, that in the interest of the community and the mode of the Festival the decision had to be to deny the booth.

The members of the Labor Day Festival Committee issued the following statement:

"Our decision to exclude the group was based on the fact that this is a community affair with its goal that of raising funds for our youth and other civic organizations.

"The committee, after giving the matter full consideration, decided that it would not be consistent with the purposes of the Festival to permit political organizations a booth. We had to consider not only the present request but the future of the Festival if we should establish a precedent by granting permission to a political organization at this time.

Leo Gerton, Chairman,
Greenbelt Labor Day
Festival Committee."

City Council Statement On Labor Day Festival Goals

The members of the Greenbelt City Council and I are quite disturbed about the controversy that has developed over the intrusion of political activists into the Labor Day Festival. This festival was initiated to provide healthful entertainment to residents so that they need not leave the city over the holidays, and to raise funds for community organizations, particularly youth groups. It was never intended to be used for the promotion of political organizations or political causes. The Council and I commend the decision of the Labor Day Festival Committee to return this annual celebration to its original goals of entertainment and fund raising for the various Greenbelt oriented community programs, and to not permit the use of the festival facilities for the expounding of political ideologies.

FIRE ALARMS KEEP GREENBELT VOLUNTEER FIREMEN HOPPING

by Cleo Dutton

A long and busy night began for Greenbelt's volunteer firemen when they responded to a fire last Thursday evening at 8:02 p.m. The building, an eight-bay garage contained several customized cars, trucks and a boat and was fully ablaze when firemen arrived on the scene at the old Schrom air strip. The closest hydrant was more than one mile away at the Greenbelt Armory so the firemen protected the home of Mr. Charles W. Baker, Jr., which was only thirty feet from the burning building, with water carried on the trucks. They also used water from a pond located near the Schrom Construction Company. Estimated damage to the garage was nearly $30,000.00. The Fire Department left the scene at 11:04 p.m. but it was nearly midnight before all equipment was cleaned up and men released to go home.

Later, at 1:19 a.m. Friday morning, a burned TV dinner called the men to Spring Hill Lake; at 2:45 a.m. a report of alarm bells ringing at Lakeside North Apartments again put men and equipment on the road but it proved to be a false alarm.

The final alarm sounded at 3:43 a.m. and again called the firemen to Spring Hill Lake. Fire had broken out in a second floor apartment, the home of Mary and Jay Welch and their year-old baby girl. Because of intense fire in the living room, the Welches couldn't reach their baby and were forced to jump out of their bedroom window. Lt. Robert W. McCracken, of the Greenbelt Fire Dept. entered the apartment wearing a self-contained oxygen mask, and carried the baby from her crib to firemen waiting on a ladder outside her room. Only the fact that the door to her room was closed saved the child from exposure to the smoke and fire. Welch suffered a severely lacerated hand when he jumped; all members of the family were treated at Prince Georges Hospital and later released. Mrs. Vivian Boyko and her daughter, who lived in the apartment above the Welches, were led down the stairs to safety by firemen; flames shooting up from the burning apartment to the Boyko balcony prevented firemen from reaching them with a ladder. Six other residents of the third floor remained on their balconies until firemen could get ladders in place and take them down.

Greenbelt firemen and their neighboring companies, who run mutual aid on all fire calls in their area, were back in service at 5:16 a.m. Friday morning. About 6 a.m. equipment was in order and ready to roll when needed, and some very tired and sleepy men were released to go home. Some were able to get well-deserved rest; others prepared to put in an eight-hour day on their regular job.

Elise Geller Wins

4-H Style Review

Elise Geller, age 17, was awarded 4-H's most coveted sewing award at the Prince Georges County Style Review last Friday, at the Capital Plaza 4-H Fair. Elise was presented with her Grand Champion purple rosette, and a bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums, by former 4-H member, County Commissioner M. Bayne Brooke, and Mrs. E. Manglitz, 4-H leader and candidate for County Commissioner.

The Style Review is the highlight of the year for all girls taking sewing projects, and they put a great deal of thought and effort into their garments. They know they will be judged not only on sewing ability, but also on fit, appropriateness to the wearer, and modeling. Thus the award is for all-round ability.

A member of 4-H for eight years, Elise has been winning awards for her sewing for most of them. Her entry in the Style Review was a tailored wool suit. Later in the year, she will represent Prince Georges County in competition against winners from the other Maryland counties. The State winner will go to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, and will be the recipient of a scholarship.

SWIM TEAM NEWS

Both of the Greenbelt Swim Team's trophy winners at the peak meet of the Prince-Mont League Season, the All Stars Meet, missed gold awards by only fingernail lengths. But Ricky Smith won a silver trophy in backstroke and Molly McMahon collected two bronze mementos for her freestyle and breaststroke efforts. In terms of their performance the preceding week at the Cheverly Relays, Greenbelt's mixed age medley relay teams certainly won honorable mention. The girl's group took a fifth place with assistance from Angel Flood, Colleen Kincius, Heidi Myers and Molly McMahon. The boys surprised their competition with a fourth place; congratulations to Mike Merricks, Ricky Smith, Steve McMahon and Billy Webb.

The critically important Adelphi Novice Meet takes place this Saturday, August 27, at 9 a.m. Coach Dennis Adams will notify Greenbelt novices of their departure schedules.

Parental assistance has been requested for the Swim Team Pizza Booth at the Labor Day Festival; please contact Mrs. Sines or Mrs. Flood.

Know the Candidates

As in every election year, the League of Women Voters of Prince Georges County has issued a "Voters Guide" containing information on candidates and their opinions, collected by the League, on various election issues. The 8-page guide is now available at all county libraries; for further information, call 449-4424.

Shocked at the Decision

We are shocked at the decision of Mrs. Rita Fisher and the Labor Day Festival Committee to rescind permission for the Greenbelt Committee for Peace in Vietnam to participate in the Labor Day Festival. If the presence of the peace group's booth offends individual citizens of Greenbelt, they can and should boycott the booth. If the presence of this booth offends the American Legion and the DAV, they are, as they have pointed out, perfectly free to withdraw. It is difficult for us to understand, however, how these two veterans' organizations, which have long and vociferously advocated the "American way of life," could allow the Committee to so blatantly contradict that very concept, as manifested in the healthy American tradition of airing honest differences of opinion in a peaceful manner. If the action of the Committee represents Americanism, it is certainly not the kind envisioned in the bill of rights; nor, we believe, can it be the kind that all our veterans have defended for us in the past. Under the circumstances, we shall look elsewhere than Greenbelt to celebrate a traditionally American holiday with our children.

Lois and Harold Zapolsky

Minority Rights

It is indeed unfortunate that such well-meaning organizations as the American Legion and the Disabled American Veterans should feel unable to participate in the Labor Day Festival if the Greenbelt Committee for Peace in Vietnam also participates. This, however, is no justification for the barring of the CPVN from the festival. Mrs. Fisher, in defense of her decision, says that she made it "in favor of a majority." A democracy, however, implies that while no one is obliged to agree with a minority, that minority must still be allowed its right to speak. It is just the principle for which so many of the American Legion and the DAV went to war to defend, and which is so sadly lacking in the communist countries.

As long as the Labor Day Festival is subsidized by the City of Greenbelt, which provides its facilities free of charge, the opportunity to participate should not be denied to any legitimate organization because of the unpopularity of its views.

David S. Falk

A Fundamental Right

Seldom does one have an opportunity to participate in the protection of a fundamental right. This, briefly stated, is what you may do by contributing to the fund being raised by the Greenbelt Freedom of the Press Committee.

It is not possible at this time to state how large the fund will need to be. That depends on too many variables. It is hoped, however, that the sum of individual contributions will be large enough to cover all contingencies. Should more be raised than is needed, the balance will be returned on a pro rata basis or, if the amount is small, contributed to the News Review.

The fund drive will be concluded this weekend. If you have not been approached by a volunteer collector, please make your own deposit at Twin Pines to the account of the Greenbelt Freedom of the Press Committee.

The Right to Dissent

Two years ago when I brought my family to Greenbelt I had thought I had found the ideal place to live in the Washington area, primarily because of the type of people who live here—people who care about their community, people with ideals. My beautiful dream was shattered not by the rape of Greenbelt but by the action taken against the Greenbelt Committee for Peace in Viet Nam (CPVN).

To be candid, if I had been in the position of Rita Fisher I, too, would have succumbed to the outrageous pressure which was brought to bear. Faced with the prospect of the Labor Day Festival meeting disaster, I probably would have given in. However, that is as far as it goes!

The Festival Committee, the News Review and the citizenry should publicly censure those organizations which threatened to withdraw from the Labor Day activities unless CPVN would be deprived of its booth. It is far too fundamental for discussion that democracy cannot work unless we afford those who disagree with us the right to dissent. It is far too obvious that if the majority of citizens do not like the public policy stands by the American Legion that they would still have no right to bring pressure to bear that the Legion not participate in the Festival nor in any other way have lesser rights than others. If we are to allow such pressure tactics against those who dare to differ, moral decay is inevitable!

Although I am one to speak my mind and have strong opinions about many of the items which have made news in the News Review, I have never been outraged enough before to compel me to use what little spare time I have and write a letter to the editor. I might stress that I have nothing to do with CPVN and I do not care whether CPVN is correct or erroneous in its beliefs, just so long as it has met whatever reasonable requirements have been used in the past to determine who should be allowed to have a booth at the Festival. I do limit my value structure of tolerance to be intolerant of those who are intolerant. It is, therefore, my suggestion that, as an object lesson, those groups who sought to pressure the Festival Committee should lose their places on the preferential list to obtain booths and be placed at the bottom. It is my hope that those who are so callous of the rights of others are not representative of the citizenry of Greenbelt.
